

Selenite

Gateway to the Highest Self

Scientific Properties: (Variety of Gypsum)

Crystallography: Monoclinic

Chemical formula: $\text{CaSO}_4 \cdot 2\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Mohs hardness: 2

Density: 2.31 - 2.32 g/cm³

Colour: transparent, translucent, opaque, colourless to white

Selenite is among the most precious of all crystalline formations, and indeed offers great joy through the refined and delicate frequencies it brings.

Selenite is a bridging stone between the most distant planes of the beyond-the-beyond and the third dimension. It holds third dimensional vibration within its essence, and at the same time, offers access to the light of the soul and the universe to any person with whom it resonates. The light frequencies of the person using Selenite and her soul merge within Selenite's Oneness. Although a similar connection is possible within many other stones, Selenite works with the Oneness of the soul in the way that the master calls the servant. The master on Earth, who is at One with Selenite, has at her disposal a clear channel to the soul and to the highest levels of self.

Selenite draws Oneness together. The Oneness of the All of the beyond, the Oneness from the soul, and the Oneness from the person using it on the third dimension, merge together within Selenite. All of the universe can have a home within its essence. Consequently, Selenite is similar to Fluorite. Both Selenite and Fluorite present a physical form that is truly enlightened substance, and yet not simply enlightened substance. Both accom-moderate the presence of angelic beings. However, unlike Fluorite, Selenite's task does not include accommodating a diversity of higher dimensional discarnate light-workers and spirit guides. As well, Selenite does not need to be fully functioning enlightened substance at all times. Rather, Selenite ushers the movement of Oneness through its physical form, but only when called to do so. When the Oneness of a person merges with the Oneness of her angelic higher-self, Selenite makes the merged Oneness available on the third dimension. Oneness is brought together from separate sources within Selenite, as it is within Fluorite, but, in Selenite, the unified Oneness is also moved onto the physical plane. Fluorite accommodates higher dimensional Oneness and spirit guides, but their vibrations remain within the stone without actually exiting into physical vibration.

The Crystal Textbook

Selenite resonates intimately with the physical plane. Understanding how it manipulates third dimensional energies is key to how it works. Over a period of several millennia, the human physical body gradually acquires the capacity to anchor and accommodate light. The capacity to anchor light is primarily accomplished through the expansion of a person's Oneness as the light created from within assimilates into the physical body. The person's Oneness also expands through the light received from the higher planes and the higher-self, whenever that light is available.

Using Selenite allows a person to focus her Oneness into the stone simply by its placement nearby, preferably at the head about 12" above the crown. Giving one's vibration over to the stone, by wilfully using it, joins a person's third dimensional Oneness with the substance of the stone. At this initial point of union, the stone assumes the precise vibrational frequency rate of the user. The vibrations of the stone and the user merge into one, thus becoming the same.

In the resting state, Selenite is dormant. However, upon holding Selenite or having it in near proximity, the user's unique frequency rate is programmed into Selenite after only a very few seconds. With the newly acquired frequency rate, Selenite projects its vibration of unified Oneness (the user's Oneness and the Oneness of the stone) into the lighted universe. Because the stone has assumed the exact frequency of its user and no other, the pathway into the heavens strictly follows only the alignment with the specific soul energies of the user's higher-self. No other soul or higher dimensional entity could possibly attune to Selenite's frequency rate, as based exclusively on the user's frequency.

Accessing the vibrational frequency rate of the user's soul is the primary task assigned to Selenite. Selenite also facilitates the soul's union with its incarnation's Oneness on Earth, and helps anchor the Light Body. In the current new age, the Light Body does not need to be beckoned. The Angelic Ones, the souls of Earth's evolved beings, await the union of higher and Earthly selves from places that are close at hand.

In bye-gone ages, when very few souls were evolved and the light was scarce, Selenite was used in the same way to draw the Light Body from the beyond-the-beyond into the physical body. The results, however, were rarely satisfactory. The connection with the higher-self requires that the vibrational quality of a person's Oneness be adequately high. In the past (as now), if the soul's angelic light was present, and if the enlightened Earthly will to call forth the higher-self was true, the Light Body¹ was anchored. These simple conditions were not easy to fulfill, however. The way was most difficult because light was available to only a very few of the most adept individuals on Earth.

In this most precious moment of the new age, Selenite is emerging to take its rightful place. It builds the bridge between Earth and heaven, and increases the potential to join the Oneness of the person on Earth with her soul, but not just her soul. Selenite

1 Light Body includes the soul, which is part of the higher-self. It also includes the physical body once invoked. This is the essence of enlightenment. For the comprehensive discussion of the soul, higher-self, and the process of enlightenment, please see The Story of Light, Path to Enlightenment, Chapter 5, entitled: "Enlightenment".

The Crystal Textbook

reaches up to the highest levels of a person's angelic self to the very highest place of separate and identifiable being, immediately outside of the Godhead. Selenite works with every level of the Light Body.

To prepare the physical body to resonate at a frequency high enough to accommodate the Light Body, a person's etheric body must be in balance. Balance comes either through the disciplined practice of meditation, or by the use of other enlightened technologies such as the copper energy bed² and crystals. The state of a person's karmic lessons must also be acceptable. The lessons of karma are written as a vibrational blueprint upon a person's etheric magnetic field. In response to karmic imbalances, the etheric field sets up blockages to light frequencies that may be needed for spiritual growth. Excessive blockages, caused by unresolved karma, indicate an unacceptable level of a person's evolutionary progress and vibration for the purposes of anchoring the Light Body.

The Angelic Hosts are now swarming upon the Earth ready to be invoked into their respective physical bodies. In this new age, with easy access to the awaiting angelic light, Selenite works with the soul's energies surpassing the limits of age-old density to bring about the union of the physical body with the Light Body.

Although Selenite brings together the Oneness of the individual and her higher-self, its loving purpose is not exclusively for the benefit of the individual. The individual's responsibility within the divine plan is to bring light onto the physical plane. Light, however, can also flow in the other direction. Once Earthly Oneness has been adequately lighted, its connection with the heavens allows light from Earth to transcend to the heavens. The Heavenly Hosts then experience the joyous flow of loving light coming from the third dimension³. The new age is indeed also a celebration for the enlightened ones in the heavens.

2 The copper energy bed works directly with a person's etheric magnetic field to accelerate it and bring the person's vibration into balance. For the background discussion, see The Story of Light, Path to Enlightenment, Chapter 2, entitled: "The Etheric Body". The way that the copper energy bed works with the etheric field is specifically discussed in section 2.3.3 entitled: "Energy Conductors."

Selenite's contribution to the service of the light goes beyond accommodating the presence of Oneness. Its vibration allows the Oneness of the person using it to connect with the highest levels of her higher-self. Selenite opens the door to the person's soul in the heavenly planes. Within the structures of Selenite's substance, higher dimensional light frequencies create pathways to the beyond. The pathways are simply the manifest forms of higher dimensional substance. The forms of the pathways are present within the stone, but are not lighted nor active when Selenite is not in use. The physical form within Selenite is void of light, and therefore, lies dormant when not in use. Without an empowering source of light, Selenite cannot offer any connection to any other source of light. Once the light frequencies of the user enter Selenite, for the mere act of picking it up, the pathways also light up to become Oneness. However, the pathways become Oneness only in the exact frequency of the user. It is as if a switch is turned on, and the stone lights up like a light bulb.

Upon activation with the user's light frequencies, Selenite's pathways open to the celestial origins of soul-level Oneness. The user's own unique frequency determines which pathway is used. Quite quickly, within seconds at the absolute most, the Oneness is linked between the user and her higher-self. The pathway is cleared and ready, and awaits the coming of the Light Body.

Selenite permits the Light Body to enter its substance, but does not serve as a holding station. Rather, the Oneness is so thoroughly connected between the person, the stone, and the angelic presence of the person's soul and higher-self that the Light

3 Sending light into the heavens is paramount to the acceleration of Earth's enlightenment. For the discussion that will help connect the dots to explain the elation of the Angelic Ones, who are receiving light from the Earth, see The Story of Light, Through Heaven's Gate, Chapter 6, Section 6.4, entitled: "The Value of Duplicating Earth Light".

The Crystal Textbook

Body simply transits through the stone into the lighted essence of the person's physical body. There is no real time delay. The pathway opens and the Light Body moves at the speed of its own light frequencies to assume a place within the user's third dimensional body.

Enlightenment! The Angels sing with Joy! Enlightenment!

The invocation of the Light Body is the pinnacle of the person's third dimensional mission accomplished. It is the ticket home to the ascension in this most graced new age.

Selenite's initial dormancy and its exclusive attunement to the user's vibrational frequency rate are an important feature that is essential to safe invocation of the Light Body. Light Body invocation is the physical body's accommodation of the presence of the soul and higher-self. The objective is to ensure that the soul and higher-self belong to the person that is undergoing invocation. The potential exists for a mischievous lower fourth dimensional entity to slip into the physical body and take over. Such malignant beings are the cause of delusions of grandeur seen in persons suffering from schizophrenia. Having two higher dimensional beings vying for the same physical body is chaotic and contrary to the will of divinity. Selenite effectively eliminates the possibility that any vibration, except the user's vibration, plays a part in the Light Body invocation process.

As to Selenite's many other talents, Selenite has access to the full vibration of a person's third dimensional body. Selenite's vibration, specifically Selenite's Oneness connection, has the capacity to move into the deepest parts of the physical body, as well as, move on its pathways to the farthest reaches of the user's highest origins. Selenite coalesces with self from top to bottom. With such a broad range of possibilities, only the will constrains the work of Selenite. The person's will is the means by which the knowledge within the stone is acquired. Selenite offers the knowledge of the light of universal Oneness and eternal wisdom.

The light of eternal wisdom enters the consciousness of the stone's user. The presence of Oneness, enhanced by the stone, implies an intimacy with universal knowledge. To activate this knowledge, a person need only contemplate the self, wisdom, and love. Thereafter, the light of consciousness is given. Responsibility for initiating the contemplative will rests with the individual. By contemplating any chosen topic, the light attracted becomes available through the Oneness of the user and Selenite to enlighten third dimensional awareness in the ways of the heavens. The choice of topics is only limited by the scope of the mind, but limited nonetheless.

Selenite is intimate with the Earthly emotions through its connection with the water element. Water is, at times, trapped within the stone's substance, and its crystalline development takes place in watery environments. The emotional vibration taken into the stone is Oneness complete—from the fullest extent of Earthly expression to the highest resonance in the heavenly beyond. Because the Oneness within Selenite carries emotional vibrations, the emotions are intimately connected with the divine light brought forth from the higher planes. When an evolved person uses Selenite, the intent of the universe is placed clearly before her consciousness. The less realized person is only capable of partial awareness of the divine intent and is likely to suffer emotional pain. That is, the use of Selenite gives a person the will, but not the knowingness or the balance, to align with the emotional light of the soul. An imbalance in the emotions foretells significant pain for its incarnate victims.

Selenite offers the chakras the full range of light frequencies from the soul's Oneness. Each chakra acquires the frequencies it needs for empowerment. The quantity of light involved is not so overwhelming that the stone's user experiences kriyas⁴ or other such

4 One meaning of Kriya is the outward physical manifestation of the awakened kundalini. Kriyas can also be spontaneous movements resulting from the awakening of Kundalini energy. When I attended the Siddha Yoga ashram in Ganespuri, India several years ago, kriyas were easily observed among many of the ashram's devotees, who were problems. Rather, the energies involved are those, which constitute the union of the higher-self with the physical self. Harmony, therefore, reigns. The guidance of the soul is omnipresent, and so, the measure of light entering the physical body is precisely correct. The person's own soul ensures that the exact amount of light needed is sent to empower the bodily essence and chakras. When the light of a chakra either lags in growth or is exceptionally ahead of the person's spiritual evolution, the soul automatically sends the correct measure of light to create the balance required.

The Crystal Textbook

In summary, Selenite is capable of preparing the pathway for the entry of the Light Body through its ability to resonate with the full range of Earthly and soul level frequencies. It attunes to the user's unique vibrational frequency rate, following which, it actually vibrates at the very same frequency. Because Selenite's reach into the heavens is comprehensive, it brings together all of the evolved Oneness of the person's physical body with the Oneness of the highest levels of self and all parts of self between. Using both the very highest and the very lowest frequencies of the user's vibration, the stone draws Oneness from the infinitely tiniest conceivable essence deep within the body's third dimensional molecular structures.

By comparison, whereas Fluorite is enlightened substance, so too is the Selenite. However, Selenite becomes enlightened substance only when used. A very rapid transformation takes place within Selenite, as soon as the light of the person using the stone merges with it. Selenite, therefore, is not a pillar of light and does not accommodate a host of light beings, as does Fluorite. Instead, Selenite draws the Oneness vibration of the user into itself. When held in the hand, or when in near proximity, Selenite attunes strictly to the very unique frequency of the user. It magnetizes the person's Oneness thereby attracting it into its own substance. There seen shaking, rocking, or bouncing to some degree. While kriyas may be mistaken for epilepsy or Parkinson-like symptoms, they are not harmful, especially under the Guru's roof.

is no change in the frequency of the Oneness. Once imbibed with a person's light, Selenite's vibrational frequency rate is the same as the person. Immediately thereafter, Selenite connects to the universal source of Oneness. Through the universal Oneness comes the wisdom of the dimensions of the beyond. Additionally, if the physical body is adequately prepared, the person's physical body anchors its Light Body.

©S. Roger Joyeux